McKinney, Texas 2015 Community Profile

NATIONAL ACCOLADES

- McKinney was named the #1 Best Places to Live in America by Money Magazine in 2014
- America's Promise Alliance listed McKinney on the 100 Best Communities for Young People in 2012
- McKinney Air Center was voted the #1 Fixed Base Operator and Control Tower in America in 2014 according to FltPlan.com
- McKinney ranked in the Best Cities for Homeownership in 2014 according to NerdWallet

Consistently ranked as one of America's fastest-growing cities, McKinney retains its hometown charm and boasts incomparable quality of life. This community is set apart from surrounding North Texas suburbs with a charming historic district, beautiful parks and open spaces, top-notch golf courses, and diverse housing options. The McKinney Independent School District has 26 of 27 campuses ranked exemplary or recognized by the Texas Education Agency.

It's no wonder McKinney continues to grow and attract companies and entrepreneurs of all sizes. The McKinney Economic Development Corporation actively pursues investments in aeronautics/aviation and defense, healthcare/medical manufacturing, emerging technology, clean manufacturing and corporate headquarters/office. Business parks offer affordable land prices, reliable utilities and accessibility to major highways. McKinney offers competitive incentive packages to business relocation and business expansion.

McKinney National Airport boasts amenities like a new longer and wider runway to accommodate all types of business aircraft, a state-of-the-art air traffic control tower and on-field U.S. Customs. For commercial air travel, McKinney is a quick 30-minute drive from DFW International and Dallas Love Field airports. McKinney's central location allows most major North American cities to be reached on a four-hour flight.
